2017: A Year of Firsts

2017 marked a year of “firsts” for Moishe House. Over a decade young, we surpassed 100 Moishe Houses, expanded our reach in nine new cities globally and continued to innovate with the launch of Camp Nai Nai Nai and our first Open Dor Project cohort. As we’ve grown, our commitment to making Jewish life more accessible, appealing and relevant for Jewish young adults has not changed and we are as dedicated as ever to strengthening Jewish life for today’s emerging leaders. We are listening to Moishe House residents, hosts, participants and community members, and we continue to adapt our strategy to evolve to meet the needs and demands of millennials across six continents. We look forward to the opportunities ahead for Jewish young adult life and we are grateful you are joining us on this journey in building a stronger Jewish world.

DAVID CYGIELMAN
Founder & Chief Executive Officer
Moishe House’s increased reach is playing a role in changing the future of the Jewish community worldwide. In 2017, Moishe House’s leaders engaged 58,486 unique young adults through dynamic peer-led programming, a 15% increase from 2016. Moishe House has grown in all aspects, including its flagship Moishe House model; Moishe House Without Walls (MHWOW – the geographically limitless alumni engagement tool); and immersive Jewish learning opportunities. Innovation continues to drive Moishe House’s successes and impact, with input and feedback from Jewish young adults playing a critical role in decision-making and risk-taking, which leads to new ideas, programs and initiatives. We continue to support our young adult leaders as they build strong and accessible Jewish communities around the world.
Moishe Houses are more diverse and cover more programmatic and geographic areas than ever before: with houses in 26 countries, including new locations in Spain, Brazil, Sweden, Uruguay and Israel, we now have communities in nearly every major city with a Jewish emerging adult population of ~1,500+. In March 2017, Moishe House Atlanta - Buckhead opened as our 100th house. We have seen an increase in creative niche programs for specific audiences, including a deepened investment in programs geared toward the Russian Speaking Jewish (RSJ) young adult community.

MOISHE HOUSE INTERNATIONAL FUND

The Moishe House International Fund helps ensure that Jewish young adults outside of North America have the training, resources, and professional guidance to deepen their connections to their heritage while opening pathways to Jewish life for their peers. Moishe House continues to see significant demand from young Jewish adults who are creating inclusive and pluralistic Jewish spaces for their peers, a concept unique in many of these communities. In Europe, South America and beyond, Moishe House is presenting new ways for young adults to observe, celebrate, and be Jewish, especially for those who did not have access to Jewish life or knew little about their Jewish heritage in their formative years. For these young leaders and the community participants, Moishe House provides transformative, identity-building experiences. After raising $421,000 in 2017, our goal of collective support totaling $1M annually in 2020 will ultimately double our capacity across the globe.
RESIDENT TRAINING EXCHANGE

With the support of UJA-Federation of New York, Moishe House launched a resident training exchange, enabling 37 leaders from across the globe to experience an immersive Jewish training outside of their home region. The exchange brought Moishe House residents and alumni to the 2017 North American Resident Training Conference, the 2017 International Resident Training Conference, Jewish Learning Retreats in the US and the 2017 Russian Speaking Jewish Resident Training Conference.
Ensuring a Legacy
Moishe House Without Walls

Moishe House Without Walls (MHWOW) continues to gain traction with Jewish young adults as the alumni engagement mechanism for Moishe House and other Jewish young adult organizations, including JDC Entwine Global Jewish Service Corps, Pardes and Urban Adamah. Supported by MHWOW, hosts create their vision of their ideal Jewish community by leading Moishe House-style programming from their own homes. In 2017, we put a new emphasis on encouraging MHWOW hosts to be “highly active” and lead a minimum of four programs annually, as prior evaluations have shown that frequency of leading and participating in programs has a direct influence on impact.

“Discovering MHWOW was the best thing that happened to me as a young person. It made me more confident in myself as a leader, and as a Jewish leader. I got re-inspired to continue the grassroots dialogue work I had tried to do previously. [MHWOW] also enabled me to be a connector and bridge builder in the community. I’m so grateful for all of the support [Moishe House has] given me, financially and otherwise.”

– Cheryl, 31, MHWOW host, Washington, DC

“MHWOW has been an incredible leadership and engagement opportunity for our yearlong Jewish Service Corps (JSC) Fellows. The impact has been far reaching in over eight communities around the world and has enabled JSC Fellows to engage young Jews in celebrating their identities. The Fellows have shared that this partnership has given them an opportunity to gain strong leadership skills, engage with communities they may not have otherwise been exposed to, and learn new ways of thinking about Jewish diversity...We are incredibly grateful to MHWOW and this partnership.”

Unique Participants
Based on steady, continuous demand from Jewish young adults for immersive learning experiences, and the visionary funding and partnership of the Maimonides Fund, coupled with several other regional supporters, we’ve pushed the boundaries of what is possible in the realm of young adult Jewish education. Altogether, the 77 Jewish Learning Retreats held in 2017 collectively engaged and trained 1,948 attendees while focusing on a variety of relevant topics, such as Jewish mindfulness, Shabbat innovations, Passover spirituality, Shavuot, Shabbat and the creative arts, and more.

In 2017, we welcomed three Regional Jewish Educators into the Moishe House network to meet the growing and diverse needs of our Moishe House community. Our robust Jewish education staff is now able to consult with residents of each house and help them shape their individual Jewish learning and teaching skills.

PEER-LED RETREATS
In 2017, we began to build out the Peer-Led Retreats pilot in a major way. Emerging leaders around the globe hosted 60 Peer-Led Retreats (PLRs) – an increase of more than 100% from 2016. Fueled by this growth, we offered three Retreatology trainings in 2017 – specialized Learning Retreats to train PLR facilitators – significantly increasing the number of potential leaders of PLRs. With the demand-based growth, we have seen that this model resonates with our emerging leaders and that there is a place in Moishe House for both staff-led and peer-led Jewish learning experiences.

“Learning about something so important and meaningful from someone who is not just my peer, but someone I consider a friend, was a gift and exceptional experience, one I will treasure for years to come.”
- Roman, participant, RSJ Chanukah - Bringing Light into Darkness, New York

RSJ CHANUKAH - BRINGING LIGHT INTO DARKNESS
CAMP NAI NAI NAI
Building off the interest in our Retreats model, together with the emergence of the young adult summer camp model, we piloted Camp Nai Nai Nai for 127 young adults. From the momentum generated by the first Camp Nai Nai Nai in May 2017, two different camps are planned in 2018 for more than 300 campers.

OPEN DOR PROJECT
The Open Dor Project is designed to further the creation and development of emerging Jewish spiritual communities in North America. Our first cohort, launched in 2017, is made up of four entrepreneurial Jewish clergy leaders from across the country. They will address the most pressing needs of spiritual startup leaders and will be supported in their vision for Jewish spiritual life.

Global Communities Respond

DISASTER RELIEF

Throughout 2017, Moishe House residents utilized the Moishe House network to respond as their communities faced natural disasters. From earthquakes to hurricanes to wildfires, residents and community members stepped up to participate in and lead relief efforts, even as they themselves were sometimes the victims of these events.

HOUSTON FLOODING

Hurricane Harvey flooded Houston in August while all Moishe House Houston residents were attending the North American Resident Training Conference. They remained in the Midwest until planes were able to land safely in Houston. As the city continues to rebuild, Moishe House Houston is organizing a park restoration to encourage the community to come together and clean up one of their favorite outdoor spaces.

MEXICO CITY EARTHQUAKE

September was a difficult time for the Moishe House Mexico City residents, whose home was condemned as a result of damage inflicted by the powerful earthquake. With all residents safe, they immediately jumped in to help with the recovery efforts. Working around the clock, they volunteered with Cadena, a Jewish nonprofit committed to disaster relief, and helped rescue survivors from the rubble.

CALIFORNIA WILDFIRES

The October fires that devastated Sonoma left many without homes and food in the Bay Area. Residents from Moishe House San Francisco - NOPA created a pop-up program to cook food and gathered volunteers to help serve and clean at a Shabbat organized by the Jewish Community Federation of San Francisco, The Peninsula, Marin and Sonoma Counties. The Shabbat gathering, held at Shomrei Torah, welcomed people, a third of them homeless, to their first home-cooked meal since the fires.

“We want to express our deepest thanks to... Moishe House...for being so awesome during the dark times our dear Mexico City was through the past three months. After the earthquake, with their unconditional love and support, we were able to find a new home in which we are once again welcoming our community.”

THE WE ARE CAMPAIGN

Our annual resident-driven fundraiser – the WE ARE Campaign – took place in fall 2017, and raised more than $107,000 through 1,900+ individual donations. Many of these donors are directly involved with Moishe House as residents, participants, MHWOW hosts and community members. This campaign provides an opportunity for millennials to demonstrate their commitment to philanthropy and the Moishe House model of building Jewish community.

“Words cannot even describe how much Moishe House means to me. When I first moved to NYC barely knowing anyone, Moishe House was there for me to meet other amazing people and explore what it means to be a young professional living in a big city. This past May, I had the absolute honor of becoming the newest resident of the Williamsburg house, where I can now not only participate, but create, lead, and foster these experiences for so many more amazing individuals. I hope that you all will join me in donating to our house so that we can continue to have an incredible and vibrant young Jewish community for many more years to come!”
